

The North Dakota Corn Growers Association is taking applications for a Board of Directors opening

The NDCGA is calling on interested corn growers in the state willing to serve as a policy advocate towards “growing a healthy, profitable business climate for northern corn.” Candidates must be actively farming and growing corn, a producer who has livestock is a plus, and someone who values the role public policy with our state and federal governments. The board meets three times a year, but board members can be more involved in related efforts and attend in and out of state meetings and conferences as they so choose. Little or no experience on a board, or in government is OK. NDCGA will provide training. What IS required is some level of passion to make things better for the North Dakota corn producer.

If you are a corn grower in North Dakota who would make a great candidate from one of the three counties in District 2: Cass, Steele, or Traill, or you know someone who would, please contact our office as soon as possible:

Brenda Elmer at 701.566.9325 or mobile 218.790.0555 or email brenda@ndcorn.org.

Or share this flyer and ask them to contact us to learn more. Thank you!
